What strikes you in reading this novel and why? For instance,

* what motivates Clarissa or Lovelace?
* are they engaged in what has been called “the war of the sexes”?
* should Clarissa put more trust in Lovelace?
* what is Anna Howe’s function?
* does the Harlowe family seem realistic?
* how do Clarissa’s view of marriage and her family’s view differ?